Serving the Town of Wolcott Since 1995

Black bunting was hung over the front entrance of the Wolcott Police Department on 9/18/2026 in honor of the passing of former Wolcott Police Officer John Gagain on 9/17/2026. Officer Gagain battled health issues for the past nine years and finally succumbed to them. He served the Town of Wolcott as a police officer from 1981 till 1996 when he retired with a medical disability. Rest in peace Officer Gagain and thank you for your service.

Pat's IGA on Wolcott Road is undergoing a remodeling face lift. Work has begun with a new roof and two new dormers being built on the roof and a completely new siding design on the front of the building. The DiSapio family occupied this store location back in 1983 and this is the first remodeling project since they moved in.

On September 9th, a full military honor burial for Patrick J. Hartigan Jr. took place at Edgewood Cemetery. Mr. Hartigan was a veteran of the U.S. Army Reserves and attained the rank of Sergeant. He and his late wife Inez, settled in Wolcott in 1963 and raised their family here. Thank you for your service Mr. Hartigan and may rest in peace.

A plaque unveiling event took place in front of Johnny B's restaurant at 1457 Meriden Road. The plaque placement and creation of it was the idea of Michael Spillane who labels himself as a "Patriot" and lover of American History. The plaque marks the location where it is believed French General Jean-Baptiste Rochambeau and approximately 5,000 French troops marched by as part of their route to join General George Washington's troops in Mt. Kisco, N.Y. and eventually Yorktown, Virginia. Mr. Spillane is pictured here with the patriotic shirt on, and several of his high school classmates who came out to participate in the event.

A Minute with the Clerk

by Karen Mowad, MCTC, MMC

STAFF CHANGES

Olivia Beaulieu started in our office part time during COVID and was a great help with mail in election ballots and answering phones and helping residents with the "new normal". It was quickly clear to us that she was an amazing person, going out of her way to help the residents and be part of our team when the world was shut down. Each day we worked behind the scenes to make sure vital records were processed, election laws were upheld, and each call was answered. When our long-time clerk retired, Olivia was chosen to take the position of Assistant Registrar of Vital Statistics and has been a vital part of our staff for the last few years. We are sad to announce Olivia has taken another position and will be moving on but so very proud of her accomplishments and excellent academic achievements. She completed town clerk certification classes, became a Certified Municipal Official, and continues to pursue her passion in psychology. We wish her the best everything.

NEW UPDATES TO MARRIAGE LICENSES

Due to short staffing, we are requesting that you make an appointment to ensure that we are prepared to process your paperwork and provide you with the quality service we are known for. The State of Connecticut has passed a new law recently that requires a minimum of a 48 hour waiting period after the marriage license is applied for. The official

State language is as follows:

Public Act 26-141, Sections 6 and Section 7

Effective date: October 1, 2026

The update adds a minimum 48 hour waiting period from the time the marriage license application is completed in the town where the wedding ceremony will take place, before the marriage license may be issued. The update also changes the date used to calculate the time period the license is valid for. Effective October 1, 2026, the license is valid for sixty-five days from the date the license is issued. This is a change from before in which the validity was calculated from the date of the application.

MAYOR'S CORNER
October 2026

October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month, a time to honor, support, and remember those affected by this disease. Let us stand together in solidarity, extend compassion to survivors, and keep in our hearts the loved ones we’ve lost. Even the smallest gesture, a shared story, or a moment of silence — can carry great meaning.

Here in Wolcott, there are so many opportunities to slow down and enjoy the beauty around us, whether you’re taking a stroll along the scenic Mill Pond Way Walking Trail, enjoying the changing leaves, visiting with neighbors, or simply traveling around town. I hope everyone takes a little time this fall to enjoy all that our community has to offer.

As the seasons change, it is also important that we stay connected and informed. I encourage all residents to sign up for the Town of Wolcott Text Notification System. This service provides important updates about town events, safety notifications, road closures, and community news directly to your phone.

Signing up is easy—simply text “Wolcott” to 91896. You will receive a confirmation message; just reply YES to complete your enrollment.

Please visit our website for upcoming events www.wolcottct.org or you can find us on Facebook

As always, know that you can contact me with any questions, comments, or concerns. Stop by my office or give me a call at 203-879-8100 ext. 102.

Sincerely,

Boy Scouts Troop 230

Troop 230 scouts are diving right back into action after thoroughly enjoying an amazing summer camp season!

The scouts recently gathered to map out an exciting year ahead, which will feature monthly campouts, plenty of hiking and fishing days, merit badges and much more.

At the first meeting of the year, the scouts began reviewing individual advancement skills and kicked off a brand-new troop fitness plan. The Troop also held a can and bottle drive to help offset costs of their adventures, as well as community service projects. As always, scouts are so very grateful for the support of the Wolcott community! Later this month, the troop will hold a trail clean up and campout here in Wolcott.

Looking ahead to October, the troop is looking forward to an action-packed Camporee at Camp Mattatuck in Plymouth, CT alongside scouts from across the entire Western District! They will spend the weekend competing in various skill competitions.

Troop 230 continues to collect redeemable cans and bottles. To have your donation picked up or to schedule a drop off, email mikeike668@gmail.com.

Troop 230 welcomes boys and girls ages 11-17. For more information about joining Scouting or to have the Troop assist with your event, please email troop230committee@gmail.com.

Cub Scout Pack 230

Pack 230 families had an incredible summer filled with everything from biking adventures to our annual family picnic, making memories that will last a lifetime.

The Pack recently kicked off the new school year with an exciting Joining Night where prospective scouts tried their hand at indoor fishing, soap carving, and learning simple knots, while adults heard all about the year ahead.

Dens are officially starting to meet this month as scouts begin their new scouting journeys, and we are already gearing up for our upcoming family campout and fishing derby at Camp Mattatuck in Plymouth, CT this October!

Pack 230 welcomes boys and girls in Kindergarten through 5th grade. For more information, email wolcott230@gmail.com.

The Mouth-Body Connection: Why Your Oral Health Matters

Dr. Ezra Friedman
Wolcott, CT

When we think about going to the dentist, we usually think about our teeth. Cavities, fillings, cleanings, crowns and maybe the occasional “open wide.” But your mouth is connected to the rest of your body in more ways than you might realize.

In fact, your mouth is often viewed as a window into your overall health. Your mouth is part of your body. That may sound obvious, but it’s easy to forget. The gums and tissues in your mouth contain blood vessels, nerves and immune cells, and problems in the mouth can affect, and sometimes reflect, what is happening elsewhere in the body.

One of the best-known connections involves gum disease. When bacteria build up around the teeth and cause inflammation, the gums can become swollen, red and prone to bleeding. More advanced gum disease can lead to a chronic inflammatory response. Research has found associations between periodontal disease and conditions such as cardiovascular disease and diabetes. This doesn’t mean that gum disease directly causes these conditions, but it does highlight how closely oral and overall health are connected.

The relationship also works in the other direction. Diabetes, for example, can make it more difficult for the body to control gum inflammation, increasing the risk of periodontal disease. People with diabetes and gum disease may also have a harder time keeping their blood sugar under control.

Your mouth can sometimes provide clues about other health issues as well. Changes in the mouth, persistent dry mouth, unusual sores or changes in the appearance of the tissues may occasionally be signs that something else deserves attention. That’s one reason regular dental examinations are about more than simply looking for cavities. And why routine x-rays are so important.

And then there’s the everyday stuff. Your teeth affect what you eat, how comfortably you eat, how you speak and even how well you sleep. Grinding and clenching can contribute to headaches and jaw discomfort, while a healthy, comfortable mouth makes it easier to maintain a healthy diet and lifestyle.

The good news is that taking care of your mouth doesn't require anything complicated. Brush twice a day, clean between your teeth, maintain regular dental visits and let your dentist know about changes you notice.

Your mouth isn't separate from the rest of you. Taking care of your teeth and gums is simply another part of taking care of your whole body.

If it’s been a while since your last dental visit, consider this a gentle reminder to schedule a checkup. Your mouth, and the rest of your body, will thank you.

Wolcott Veteran’s Advocacy Commission

Our mission is to provide for the advancement of, and assistance to, veterans & their dependents related to disability, reemployment, education, rehabilitation, and adjustment to peacetime living.

The Wolcott Veterans Advocacy Commission was established in 2022 after years of Wolcott Vets being served by the Veteteran’s Strong organization out of Bristol CT.

Brett Muccino said that “Mayor Tom Dunn called to start the discussion of Wolcott having their own Veteran’s Advocacy Commission, to fill the need of an ever-aging veteran population, as part of the Town Government.”

There was a meeting in July of 2022 and Brett was elected as Chairman by members of the newly formed Commission. Through 2 years of dedicated efforts of general research, phone calls, and numerous meetings by the Veteran’s Travelling Wall subcommittee of the Commission and, donations from some very generous folks, the Vietnam Travelling Memorial Wall found a home for 4 days in Wolcott CT. Despite the rainy weather, thousands of visitors came to pay their respects.

Day to day operations include assisting Veterans get their due benefits, answering questions from veterans on the type of programs and assistance available, fund raising for materials used to teach students about various wars and conflicts, and to fund scholarship programs. Currently, they continue to raise funds by selling military-related t-shirts, hoodies, hats and memorial bricks.

Watch for their new website, coming in October. You will be able to place orders online. Forms to order the Memorial bricks are available at the Assessor’s office and will be available on the website.

The Wolcott Veteran’s Advocacy Commission of the Town of Wolcott, consists of Veteran and non-Veteran volunteers.

Current Members are: Brett Muccino - Chairman, Tony Marino - Vice Chair, Jim Natale -Treasurer, Kelly Fitzgerald-Mazza, Larry Desmarais, Lee Brault, Darlene Gelinas, AJ Mastrofrancesco, Fred Klies, Stacy Perrone-Petta, Angela Serrano - Secretary (Assessors Office)

Chairman Muccino can be contacted at brettmuccino@gmail.com.

Edgewood Cemetery Association Veterans Memorial Project

On September 5, 2026 the Edgewood Cemetery Association’s Board of Directors met to receive reports regarding finances, cemetery improvements, plot sales and burials. During the cemetery improvement report, Caretaker, Roger Picard, addressed the board regarding his desire to improve and redesign the area in the cemetery that is designated as a Veterans’ Memorial Area. The area is located where the cemetery flag pole is currently located with a Veterans’ monument and naval ship’s anchor. The flag pole currently consists of two ten foot steel pipes threaded together, with a pulley rope system to raise and lower the flag. The poles have several layers of white paint on them that has become pitted due to weather and aging. The location of the three items listed before seem to have been placed in such a way that they do not complement one another as a memorial and lack connection to one another. Caretaker Picard described his idea of creating a courtyard of stone pavers and new flag pole and relocating the Veterans’ Memorial Monument in closer proximity to the flag pole and naval anchor. Benches could also be added to the area for those who visit and wish to reflect about a loved one who may have served their country.

An estimated cost for this project is approximately, $16,000. Caretaker Picard advised the board that he would like this project to also have community involvement by allowing businesses, community organizations, veterans groups, plot owners and private individuals to be part of the construction of this Memorial by donating funds for this project to help offset the cost to construct it. As a result of community participation, those who donate can take pride in knowing they are doing their part in honoring those who have served their country and at the same time, keeping their memories alive. The Edgewood Cemetery Association Board of Directors voted unanimously to approve the Veterans’ Memorial Project and allow Caretaker Picard to begin the process of fund-raising and setting up a special bank account into which the funds will be deposited. Those wishing to donate can send checks made out to Edgewood Cemetery Association, with “Veterans Memorial Project” written in the memo area of the check. The checks may be mailed to Edgewood Cemetery Association, 389 Boundline Road, Wolcott, CT 06716. When the project is complete, a ribbon cutting ceremony will be held at the site with the public, Veterans and local dignitaries being invited to attend.

Connecticut Families Cannot Afford More Excuses From the Majority

by State Representative
Gale Mastrofrancesco
80th District —
Wolcott & Southington

There is a lot of talk in Hartford about affordability. But for the people paying the bills, this is not a talking point. It is real life.

It is the electric bill sitting on the kitchen counter. It is the price at the gas pump. It is the grocery receipt that continues to produce eye-popping totals. It is the property tax bill, the health insurance premium and the paycheck that seems to disappear faster every year.

Connecticut families are being squeezed from every direction, and they are tired of being told to wait for relief. That is why my Republican colleagues and I recently laid out a plan to put more money back where it belongs: in the hands of the people who earned it.

We are proposing:

- Eliminating the Public Benefits Charge on electric bills
- Reducing the income tax
- Lowering health insurance premiums through Association Health Plans
- Eliminating the Highway Use Tax, which gets passed along through the cost of goods
- Giving Connecticut drivers a one-year gas tax holiday
- Eliminating the sales tax on meals purchased at grocery stores

These aren't abstract numbers on a spreadsheet. These are costs Connecticut families deal with every single day.

And before anyone in Hartford says, "We can't afford it," I have a question: How much more can Connecticut taxpayers afford?

We have been told for years that higher taxes and higher spending are necessary to keep Connecticut moving forward. Yet Connecticut continues to be one of the most expensive states in which to live, work and raise a family.

At some point, the majority needs to stop asking what else taxpayers can give and start asking what it can do without. Look, the majority has been in power for decades now, if they wanted to fix this situation for you and me, they would have, they just do not seem to feel it is a priority.

Well, House and Senate Republicans ARE making it a priority because residents are struggling and someone has to stand up and say NO to increased government spending, NO to unchecked funding to whoever asks for it, and say YES to putting you, the taxpaying citizen first.

Yes, Connecticut has enacted tax relief in recent years. The state increased the property tax credit from $200 to $300 and enacted more than $600 million in tax cuts in 2022. But let us be honest are you feeling that in your everyday budget?

And some of the costs we are fighting are not even hidden.

Look at your electric bill. Connecticut recently used state bonding to keep the Public Benefits portion of electric bills lower through at least April 2027. That may provide temporary relief, but borrowing money to cover costs does not make those costs disappear. It simply changes who pays them and when, and kicks the can down the road until election season is over.

That is not a long-term affordability strategy.

Neither is telling a family earning a decent income that they should simply absorb another increase in insurance, groceries, gasoline or property taxes.

Instead of figuring out how to spend every dollar that comes into Hartford, we should be asking whether every dollar needs to be taken in the first place.

Instead of creating another program, another fee or another tax and telling residents it is for their own good, we should be looking for ways to make Connecticut less expensive.

And instead of temporary fixes, Connecticut needs lasting relief.

That is what our affordability plan is about. It is about recognizing that taxpayers are not an unlimited source of revenue.

They are parents. They are seniors. They are small-business owners. They are police officers, teachers, nurses, technicians, electricians, plumbers, and people who get up every morning and go to work.

They have mortgages to pay. Cars to fuel. Children to raise. Businesses to keep open. They do not need another lecture from Hartford about why everything costs more.

They need government to get out of the way and let them keep more of what they earn.

Connecticut families have done their part. Now it's time for the majority in Hartford to do its part, and I will not back down until they do.

Wolcott Historical Society - October 2026

by Florence Goodman

As I continue to share the history of our patriots who fought for independence, I will remember five men who may not have been born in our town but are listed as soldiers of the Revolution from Wolcott.

Our first patriot this month is Captain Heman Hall who was born in 1750. Records differ on the town in which he was born; some show Wallingford and others show Wolcott.

This tombstone is in memory of Captain Heman Hall and his wife Rebekah. It is found in Edgewood Cemetery in Wolcott.

Samuel Orcutt (History of Wolcott) lists his parents Lieutenant Heman and Elizabeth Hall among the earliest settlers in our town purchasing land in 1754 but stating that Captain Heman Hall was born in Wallingford. He also states that Captain Heman built a “gamble-roof house” on the road from Wolcott Center to Marion. He married Rebekah Finch in 1772 and they had eight children. Captain Hall was a man of prominence and responsibility in the Farmingbury Society from its first organization until his death. He served in the revolution in the 13th Company

This is a rubbing of Elijah Royce’s tombstone done in 1994. He is buried in Northeast Cemetery in Wolcott.

This rubbing is from James Bailey’s tombstone the Northeast Cemetery. Many of the stones there have been destroyed.

15th Militia Regiment in Massachusetts in August 1777. He died February 16, 1795, at the age of 45 and is buried in Edgewood Cemetery in Wolcott.

Our next patriot is Lucius CAPTAIN Tuttle who was born in Wallingford on April 29, 1749. He married Hannah Hull from Cheshire in 1773. They had eight children. Although he spent much of his life outside of our town, he was living in Wolcott in 1830 with his son, Lucius Jr. Captain Tuttle was a prominent man in Cheshire for many years. During the Revolution, he served as a lieutenant in Colonel

This is the tombstone of Lucius Tuttle. It is found in Hillside Cemetery in Cheshire.

Baldwin’s Regiment. Lucius served under General Washington at Boston and Long Island. A quote from Lucius states, “In the first part of August 1776 there then being three militia companies in this place, they were all ordered to the city of New York. I belonged to the third Company 10th Regiment of the State of Connecticut.” He commanded his own company in the battle which resulted in the surrender of General Burgoyne and his army at the battle of Saratoga, NY in 1777. Captain Tuttle’s wife died in 1800, and records indicate that he was living in Wolcott 1830. He died on June 26, 1846, at the age of 97. He is buried in Hillside Cemetery in Cheshire, Connecticut.

The third patriot I will remember is Elijah Royce. He was born in Wallingford on July 26, 1756. At age nineteen he began his service in the military and served during the years of 1775 through 1783. He served with captain Robert Warner in the Third Regiment under Colonel Samuel Wyllys. He was at the Battle of Bunker Hill on June 17, 1775. Elijah was involved in several other battles and was wounded at Monmouth. Records indicate that he served under LaFayette at Yorktown in the 1st Sentinel to guard Cornwallis following the surrender. He was placed on the invalid pension roll of New Haven County in 1794. In 1781 he married Amelia (Emilia) Johnson and they had six children. Records indicate that Elijah and Emilia lived in Wolcott in 1810. He died in April of 1834 and was buried in the old Northeast Cemetery in Wolcott, Connecticut.

The fourth patriot is James Bailey. He was born in Haddam, Connecticut on January 13, 1756. In 1778, he served eight months with captain Robert Warner in the Third Regiment under Colonel Samuel Wyllys. He was also part of the fife and drum corps in Captain Jesse Kimball’s company. In 1790 he was living in Southington, Connecticut and depending on what area, it might have been part of Farmingbury. On October 19, 1794, at age 38 he married Theede Miner Pomeroy, in Norfolk, Connecticut. They had eight children. James died May 29, 1834, in Wolcott and is buried in the old Northeast Cemetery.

Our last patriot is Stephen Carter who was born in Farmington on July 11, 1749. He married Tryphena (Norton) Upson on June 2, 1779. They had five children. Census records indicate that Stephen, Tryphena and their family were living in Wolcott by 1800. Stephen fought in the Battle of Long Island on March 17, 1776, and was part of Washington Crossing the Delaware in December of 1776. Stephen died in 1837, in the month of March or September, the month varies in his records. He was 87 and is buried in the old Northeast Cemetery in Wolcott, Connecticut.

These five patriots had different backgrounds and experiences, but each felt the responsibility and need to fight for that dream of freedom. Looking into their lives and the hardships they endured allows us a small view of them during those revolutionary years.

Thank you to Deb DuBois and Deb Wilson for the research on our patriots which allows me to write these articles.

(Information for this article was taken from two brochures: one from the Wolcott Historical Society titled, “WOLCOTT In The French and Indian Wars, The Revolutionary War and The War Of The Rebellion;” The “1986 Historic Resources Inventory,” by J.P.Loether Associates;” History of the Town of Wolcott (Connecticut) from 1731 to 1874,” by Samuel Orcutt; and hours of research by Deb DuBois on Ancestry.com, Newspapers.com and other online research sites; early Historical Society notes about facts of Wolcott A talk from Debra Wilson at the Wolcott library, 2026)

Happy Birthday to our bus driver Keely!

Friends of the Library

October is a busy month for the Friends. Our special collection day will take place on Saturday, October 10th from 10 am to noon. Now is the time for you to drop off gently used books of all kinds, audio books, CD's, DVD's, games, record albums and jigsaw puzzles for our sale. We will be collecting those items downstairs so please pull around the back and we will have staff assist you. As always, if you can't come that day, we will accept donations upstairs at the main circulation desk during the week at least 1 hour before closing time. Our monthly meeting takes place on Wednesday, October 14th at 12:30pm in the downstairs meeting room. If you would like to donate your time pre-sorting, please give Janet Tynan a call at 203 233-6407 or reach out at wolcottfriends2019@yahoo.com and we will let you know the dates and times we will be working. And then the actual sale takes place on Thursday and Friday, October 22 and 23 from noon to 6pm and Saturday, October 24 from 10 am to 2pm. Free admission all days. Most items will be priced from 25 cents to $5.00 each and we will be accepting cash only. We will have a table or 2 of beautifully bound, out of print and older volumes for your consideration at slightly higher prices.

At our last meeting we voted to supply the music for the Fall Festival and the Tellebration Program scheduled later in the year. We would also like to thank Nathan Plona of Boy Scout Troop 230 who took on the project of creating 2 display units that you will notice when you first walk in the main door. The Friends sponsored the project with money that was received in memory of Alex Nole who was very involved with the building of the library in 1970. He continued to be active as both the Library Board Chairman and a Friend of the Library for many years. We were happy to be able to support such a worthwhile project which will display our many new releases in such a unique way.

Truth Is Not Optional

by Rob Sampson
State Senator, 16th District

Election season can have a way of reducing people to labels.

I'm not talking about everyone. Most people can judge others as individuals. But our political culture increasingly encourages something less thoughtful. Turning party affiliation into something it was never meant to be: a substitute for judging candidates.

Once we allow those labels to substitute for thinking, it becomes easy to stop listening. We decide what someone believes before they speak, assign them responsibility for things they never said or did, and accept negative claims about people we dislike without asking whether those claims are even true.

That is dangerous in a country that depends on citizens making informed decisions.

I am a Republican because of the principles that brought me into public service: freedom first, limited and accountable government, personal responsibility, local control, and the belief that government exists to serve the people, not the other way around.

But being a Republican does not mean I agree with every Republican about everything, or that I should be judged by every word or action of the President. I apply the same standard to Democrats. I do not assume every Democrat is Joe Biden, Kamala Harris, Barack Obama, or anyone else.

I understand strong feelings about national politics. But I think there is a problem when those feelings become a substitute for evaluating the person actually on the ballot.

It also creates an odd political trap. A state or local candidate who shares a party label with a controversial national figure can be pushed into a debate that has very little to do with the office he actually holds: defend that national figure and alienate people who dislike him or attack him and alienate people who support him.

Neither choice tells voters much about how that person has or will represent them.

I want to know what that individual believes. What have they done? How have they voted? What principles guide them?

That sounds simple, we are increasingly encouraged to do the opposite. We are told whom to hate first and what they supposedly believe second.

I would rather reverse that process.

Look at the person. Look at the record. Listen to the argument. Then decide.

That does not mean abandoning strong convictions. I have plenty. I strongly oppose the concentration of political power in Hartford and believe Connecticut benefits from a vigorous opposition, regardless of which party controls government. Today, Democrats hold the governorship and majorities in both chambers of the General Assembly. I disagree profoundly with many policies that have emerged from that arrangement, particularly those I believe have contributed to Connecticut's affordability problems.

But disagreement does not require hatred, and partisanship should never make truth optional. I don't have to look very far for examples of why that distinction matters. My own race is a perfect example.

My opponent has circulated campaign material portraying me as "lobbying" for Eversource, refusing to suspend the gas tax, against lowering the cost of living, supportive of Connecticut's data-center corporate welfare incentives, and finally reducing the price of insulin.

The problem is that those claims are utterly and demonstrably false.

I introduced legislation to eliminate the hidden taxes on electric customers and reduce electric bills. When Connecticut suspended its 25-cent gasoline tax in 2022, I voted yes; the Senate vote was 33-0. The 2021 bill creating substantial tax incentives for qualifying data centers was HB 6514. I voted no.

Even the insulin claim demonstrates why context matters. Sure, I voted against HB 6003. I have never denied that. The bill claimed to cap costs but only for certain plans. During the actual debate, I explicitly said I favored lower insulin prices and argued that the bill did not address the underlying price and would shift costs elsewhere. I even predicted on the Senate floor that the vote would someday become a campaign flyer saying, "Senator Sampson votes against reduced insulin prices."

People are entirely free to disagree. That's politics.

But arguing against someone's actual position is different from inventing one for them.

I raise these examples not because I feel a need to defend myself, but because the conduct of a campaign is itself something voters are entitled to evaluate.

If you think a candidate made a bad decision, fine. Tell voters what they did and make the argument. If their reasoning is poor, expose it. If there is a better policy, propose it.

But the public record should be the starting point.

The same principle applies to claims that I do not help my communities secure state funding because I rarely advertise it. The record shows otherwise, including numerous projects where my support is documented. These efforts are collaborative, and I do not claim sole credit.

When local leaders ask me to support worthwhile projects, I help. What I generally do not do is hold a press conference afterward and pretend taxpayer money became mine because I helped return some of it to the community. That is a difference in philosophy and style, not an absence of work.

People will argue. We will disagree about taxes, spending, education, public safety, energy and the proper role of government. Good. Those debates are necessary.

What concerns me is when dislike of a political party or personality becomes so consuming that facts no longer matter.

That is when we surrender our own judgment.

Most people I meet are not political caricatures. They are parents, workers, business owners, seniors, taxpayers and neighbors trying to build decent lives. They may vote differently and see the world differently. That does not make them enemies.

I trust voters enough to tell them what I believe, explain my votes, and let them make their own judgment. I try to extend the same courtesy when describing the views and records of people I oppose.

Every candidate should be held to that standard.

So as another election approaches, perhaps the most useful question is not, "Which team is this person on?"

Ask instead:

Is what I am being told true?

If you are looking to drop off a turkey, the size that works best for our clients is in the 12-to-15-pound range.

Donation Options at our Facility

Our 24/7 outdoor drop-off box does not allow for someone to donate perishable food items. If you are interested in helping us stock up on those types of items (fruits, vegetables, eggs, meat, chicken cheese, butter, etc.) we would suggest the following: Purchase some of the items yourselves -or- purchase a gift-card from one of our local grocers (which would allow us to purchase what we may need). 'Thank You' to the members of the Wolcott Lions Club. They ran their annual Wolcott Fair and they had some left over food at the end of the fair. A member of the Lions club (Rob) delivered the food to us.

We wanted to showcase a photo of our 'mature' flower bed at the pantry. It has become a tradition for the Frisbie Kindergarten Classes along with town employee James Carey to come to the pantry at the end of school year to plant flowers at the pantry location.

'Thank You' to the residents that donate food at the Wolcott Library. One of the Library volunteers collects and delivers the donations to us on a regular basis. Thanks Linda!

'Thank You' Nicholas, the grandson of one of our pantry volunteers for helping to update our Gazebo event signage (Sept 19th). He's a hard working young man and is always willing to lend a hand at the pantry.

The Wolcott High boys soccer team was out pail shaking recently on Center Street near Boundline Road recently. Funds collected during this pail shake will be utilized to offset unfunded team costs to participate in the sport of soccer in the Naugatuck Valley League.

Boy Scout Troop 230 held a can and bottle drive collection fundraiser recently at the American Legion on Wolcott Road. Cars and truck loads were being dropped off at the American Legion pavilion located in the rear of the building and scouts were busy sorting out the cans and bottles in large clear plastic bags.

A Town Tag Sale event took place on September 19th with over 70 households taking part in the event on a beautiful fall like day. The Wolcott High Girls Volleyball team took part in the event and set up shop at the Wolcott High front entrance courtyard. Items that were for sale were supplied by parents of the girls. The funds made will be used for scholarships for senior team members and the purchase of team equipment.

The Wolcott Land Owners Protective Association held a ladies day event at their Woodtick Road location on 9/19/2026. Twenty five women signed up for the event, free of charge to learn basic skills in firearm safety and usage. In this photo a group of women get instruction from a firearms instructor in the proper handling and use of a shotgun. They also had the opportunity to fire the weapon at clay discs. Lunch was also provided to the participants at the conclusion of the event.

The Wolcott Food Pantry held their annual Fill The Gazebo Food Drive on 9/19/2026, on the Town Green and various locations around town. In this photo Pantry volunteers accept food donations from a drive up donor and then placed the items in containers that will eventually be taken to the Food Pantry location on Woodtick Road for future distribution.

The Exchange Club of Wolcott held their 25th Annual Clam Jam at the Woodtick Recreation Pavilion on September 13th. Despite the rain soaked weather on that day, people still came out in support of the Exchange Club and almost filled the pavilion to capacity. The event began with a breakfast menu at 10 AM, followed by hot dogs and hamburgers, then chicken sandwiches and clams on the half shell, then steamers and ended with steak sandwiches at 4:00 PM. Music and a Karaoke contest and children's games were also part of the family oriented day.

Breast Cancer Awareness

Dr. Nicole Sookhan

The most common cause of cancer in a woman is breast cancer. 1 In 8 women will develop breast cancer over their lifetime. It is important to be mindful of our breast health. Early detection leads to early diagnosis and early treatment of breast cancer.

The risk factors for breast cancer are being overweight, lack of exercise, family history, never given birth, lack of breast feeding, dense breasts and increased alcohol consumption. Being obese increases the risk of breast cancer because fat cells produces estrogen (the female hormone) which increases the risk for breast cancer. 75% Of women who developed breast cancer have no family history of breast cancer. 15% Have a family member with breast cancer and 10% Have a genetic mutation which predisposes them to developing breast cancer.

Genetic testing is now available to any woman diagnosed with breast cancer. Multi gene panel testing can test for mutations in certain genes linked to cancers such as breast, ovarian, uterine, colon, stomach, melanoma, pancreas and prostate in men.

Dense breast tissue refers to the appearance of breast tissue on a mammogram. Breast tissue is comprised of fat (non-dense tissue), milk ducts, milk glands and fibrous tissue (dense tissue). The more glandular tissue and less fatty tissue in a breast makes the breast tissue dense. Dense tissue looks white on a mammogram. A cancer can also look white on a mammogram. In a woman with dense breasts cancers can hide. A mammogram may miss a breast cancer in 40% of patients with dense breasts. For a woman with dense breast tissue, supplemental breast imaging such as a breast ultrasound or breast MRI can increase the detection of cancers that may be hidden in the dense tissue. The development of the 3D mammogram or tomosynthesis scan combines multiple breast x-rays to create a three-dimensional picture of the breasts. This can help detect cancers in women with dense breast tissue.

In 2009 Governor, Jodi Rell, a breast cancer survivor signed a notification bill into law which allows a woman to be told if they have dense breasts on their mammogram report. On March 28, 2019 the department of Health and Human Services, the FDA announced changes to the mammogram quality standards act to report dense breast tissue to the patient.

The American Society of breast surgeons recommends a woman with an average risk of breast cancer should initiate yearly screening mammogram at the age of 40 and continue as long as they are in good health. If there is a family history of breast cancer, screening mammograms will start at an earlier age. Men can also get breast cancer. Less than 1% of all breast cancers occur in men. Alcohol consumption, being overweight, liver disease, genetic mutations and aging increases a man's risk of developing breast cancer

We must be aware of our bodies. If we notice a breast lump, skin thickening, breast rash, bloody nipple discharge, nipple indentation or lumps under the armpit you should contact your healthcare provider.

Lifestyle changes can decrease your risk of developing breast cancer. Studies have shown a plant-based diet decreases the risk of cancer. Decreasing the consumption of red meat and processed meat reduces the risk of cancer. Exercising at least 30 minutes a day can also lower the risk of breast cancer. Women who have 3 or more alcoholic drinks per week have a 15% higher risk of breast cancer. Reduction of alcohol consumption and smoking cessation decreases the risk of breast cancer.

Finding a cancer early can lead to a better survival.
